A writer in "Fame" says: "The more we study advertising the more must we come to the conclusion that a psychological art, and that no man who has not the faculty of reading his fellows will ever make much of a success of it." But every man, says the Philadelphia Record, is legible in the particular that he wants the most for his money, and wants to know where to get it. Advertising furnishes this information; and its suc-cess coes not depend on psychology or hypnotism except in so far as these occultisms macre in the benefy virtues of frankness, simplicity, clearness and recognition of the fact that the reader's bump of self-interest is always the dominant bump on his cra-

The Girls' Reform School Crowded with Inmates.

Taken Back to Jail-Police Court Judges Complain of the Lack of Facilities.

Madge Fisher is again on the hands of the District authorities. Last Saturday she was convicted of incorrigibility and sentenced to the girl's reform school during her minority. Judge Kimball was informed yesterday by W. E. Endicott, president of the board of trustees, that that institution has already as many inmates as it can accommodate and so Madge was sent back to be cared for by the police court authorities.

For the present, and until the charge of sciult which she has preferred against Policeman Meilin is disposed of, she will be kept at the District jail, in order to insure her appearance as a witness. After that the question as to what disposition shall be made of her will again arise. Assistant District Attorney Mullowny says that if means of sending the girl to New York, where she could be cared for by her mother, or the Catholic priest who offered to put her into a religious institu-tion, can be found, she will be sent to that city. Otherwise, he will have no alternative but to give her her liberty.

Police Court Judges Miller and Kimball complain bitterly of the smallness of the girls' reformatory, which has accommodations for but thirty-seven inmates and is most always full. Young girls, they say, are often brought into the court charged with incorigibility or vagrancy who, through the mediation of some suit able reformatory, might easily be re-claimed. But under the present condi-tions, such girls have either to be turned loose to return to their mode of living, or sent to the jail or workhouse, where they consort with old and hardened criminals and from where they emerge much worse than when they entered.

Another source of complaint is that there are not separate apartments for white and colored girls in the institution. It is undergood that this is another reason for refusing admission to the Fisher girl as the resent occupants of the reformatory are Judge Kimball, in speaking of this mat-ter yesterday, said. "The need for a targer girl's reform school is one of the most urgent in the District. If only the means for caring for the wayward girls who are brought before the police court judges were provided a larger proportion of these unfortunate creatures might be brought to see the error of their ways and reform. It is a crying shame that this city, which is so progressive in other directions, should be deficient in this most important respect.

ROSTON'S NUMEROUS CRIMES.

Mutual Aid Association. Richard C. Drum, Thaddeus E. Stan-Ruggles and George W. Davis, as officers of the Army Mutual Aid Association, were made defendants in a suit brought yesterday by Sarah H. Benton, widow of the late James W. Benton, Mrs. Benton isked the court to compel the association to pay her $3,000 as benefit money. It is alleged that though the money is due, the officers of the lodge refuse to payit, under the protext that Mr. Benton had been dropped from the order before his death. Mrs. Benton insists that the members of the order had purposely dropped him, and that when her husband sent them a check for his dues they refused to accept it. THE BIBLE ANALYZED.

Bishop Satterlee's Lecture at Epiphany Church.

The Right Rev. Henry Y. Satterlee Bishop of Washington, lectured last night before a large audience at Epiphany Church. His subject, "The Bible and the Church," was the first of a course of five Lenten lectures to be given by various divines of the Episcopal Church under the auspices of the Churchman's League. The speaker prefaced his remarks with the command of Christ to his apostles to teach all nations, and then proceeded to give an historical analysis of the Bible, and particularly of the New Testament, brough century after century of translations and interpretations, notably the revision made by Cromwell in 1539, and King James in 1604. He said in part: "It is impossible to separate the Pible from the church. The New Testament is the church, but a witness for the faith f the early apostolic church."

The bishop concluded his address with quotation from Canon Mason of Canterbury: "It must never be forgotten," he said. "that the Bible is a church book, written for churchmen, and the inspiration of the same spirit which is leading the church so far as it is willing to be led, into all truth and in all truth."

The lecture was preceded by the usual tor of Epiphany Church, Rev. Randolph McKim. The next lecture of the series will he given at St. Paul's Church, next Tuesday evening, when Dr. McKim will speak of "The Bible and Other Literature.
